DIARY NOTES

DD/S

2 November 1965

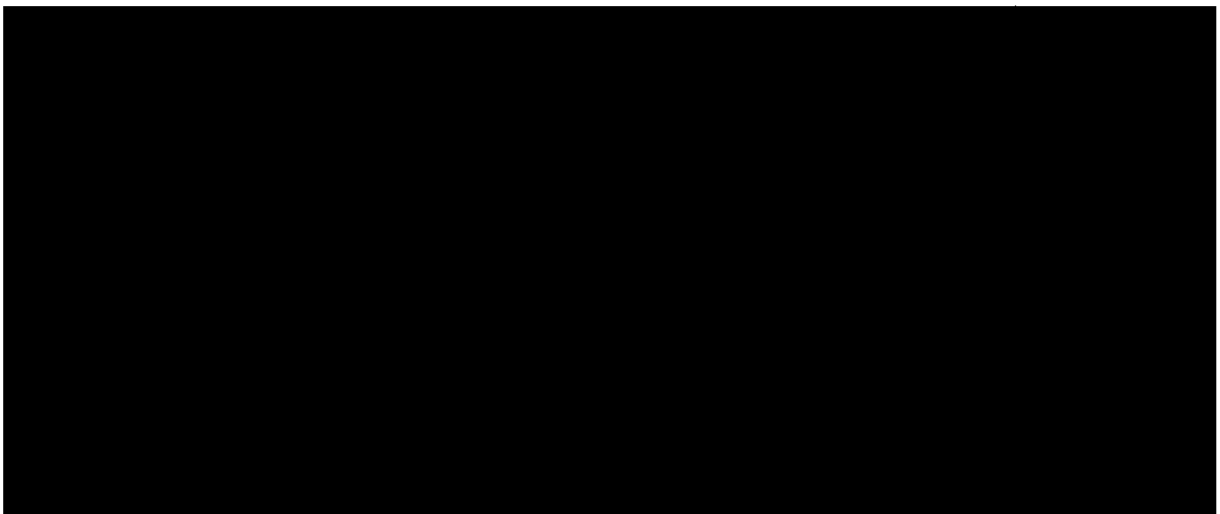

1. Emmett Echols gave me a dry run of the briefing for the Director on the proposed recruitment program for NPIC. It was a good briefing and contained a number of excellent ideas. However, we did discuss some changes in the manner of presentation. I have arranged for Emmett to give a similar briefing to Colonel White on Friday, 5 November.

2. The Director called me to his office to express his concern about the security alarm system at his house. He cited several instances when the alarm has rung in error. The Arlington Police have always arrived immediately, and in one instance the Agency Security Officer arrived fifteen minutes later; in the second instance, however, he did not arrive at all. I was aware of these incidents, which were caused by a fault in the alarm system. The Office of Security has been trying to correct it. The Director asked that the Office of Security completely review the system and make any necessary adjustments to assure its effectiveness. He also asked that the system be dry run several times to assure the timely response of the Security Officer to the alarm. I asked [REDACTED] to make a complete survey of the alarm system and to make any changes or modifications to ensure that it works properly. When this has been done, we will meet with the Director to brief him on the results of our survey and to discuss how the system works.
